Allies Drive To Cut Off Nazi Routes To Cherbourg

YANK FORCES ADVANCING ON 10-MILE FRONT

Bradley Column Three Miles from Important Highway Junction.

By The Associated Press

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE June 16 — The allied [illegible] off the Germans in the Cherbourg peninsula is "subject to increasing," supreme headquarters announced today as the American 10-mile-wide westward drive pushed armored columns to within three miles of one main road junction and within six miles of another.

Storming westward from Ste. Mere Eglise, one of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's columns reached Magneville, three miles from the St. Sauveur road junction.

Taking of this road junction, which already was under artillery fire, would sever two of the roads leading to the port of Cherbourg, about 18½ air miles to the north.

A few miles to the south of the Ste. column, another American force engaged the Germans in [illegible] fighting six miles from La Haye Du Puits, capture of which would sever all roads on the bitterly-contested peninsula.

Alive to the vital necessity of holding St. Sauveur and Le Haye Du Puits, the Germans rushed reserves into the battle and vigorous, fluid fighting was in progress.

The German communique said the Nazis drove the allies back southwest of Carentan, but admitted allied gains west and north of Ste. Mere Eglise. It claimed, also, that a wedge had been driven into the allied bridgehead east of the Orne river.

West of newly captured Quineville, on the extreme right wing of the 100-mile beachhead front, American forces advanced a mile or more to reach the Senope river.

These were the only advances registered along the front. Communique No. 21 said there were no major changes.

Caen Settles Down

Furious armored fighting raged in the Tilly Sur Seulles sector, while further east the battle of Caen settled into trench warfare with the British and Canadians holding on tenaciously. The nearest approach to a "line" was held around Troarn, at the extreme left flank of the bridgehead.

Fighting abated somewhat in the Caumont sector where Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery had made his deepest penetration inland in the forepart of the week. The Germans appeared to be gathering strength for a new counter-attack in this area.

For the first time since the battle of the beachhead started, conservative German reports from the sectors where fighting was taking place jibed generally with announcements of the allied supreme command.

Field dispatches said mobile [illegible] spearheads of the American sector found generals in the front line with their troops hurling hand grenades and firing rifles side by side with privates.

American columns pushing forward sometimes were cut off and had to fight their way back into contact with the main forces.

Allied tactical air forces flew [illegible] in 200 missions yesterday in support of the ground forces in Normandy. American and British heavy bombers dropped their 24-hour total to more than 5,000 sorties.

Weather Hampers Bombers

Weather hampered air operations somewhat, but unloading of troops and supplies on the beachhead was speeded at full blast, and supreme headquarters declared

Flame-Spitting Planes, Pilotless, Hit England

Germans Strike Back with "Secret Weapon"; Radio Controlled Craft Explode After Landing.

ONE— NEW LEAD FLAME-SPITTING—

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 16—German planes without pilots, ghostly and death-spitting, sneaked across the southern English sky today, smashing targets at random and keeping ground guns crackling. The Germans proclaimed this fantastic "secret" weapon as an instrument of vengeance for what German cities suffered under the crushing weight of allied aerial might.

These bizarre, flame-scattering robot bombers began their eerie attacks last night, descending on southern Britain by the dozens. For the first time since the 1940 blitz the ground defenses could be heard extensively in daylight, as the Germans continued their attacks in what seemed to be an enemy attempt to divert the world's—and their home front's—attention from the multiplying crises facing German arms in the battlefields of Europe.

An official announcement tonight said the robot planes continued the attack intermittently throughout the day, although on a smaller scale than last night, adding that "incidents have occurred at several places in southern England and damage and casualties have been reported." There was no evidence, however, that any important military damage had been wrought.

The German radio pictured the bombers as "novel weapons," which drop "super-heavy explosives." A special note broadcast after the communique which announced the raids said "there is hardly one German who will not receive this news with the greatest satisfaction. The feelings of hatred and a burning wish for retaliation which dominate the German people have been kindled by our enemies in their terror crimes."

Another German commentator said:

"The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly small. Perhaps our enemy did not believe reprisals would ever come to them. They laughed off the fuehrer's words."

Transocean, German propaganda agency, claimed "damage of the greatest extent was caused by the new German high explosives in London," and that "warehouses on the Thames are in flames and rail communications partly disrupted."

Descriptions of the weapon varied considerably but all agreed these self-destroying aircraft flew at terrific speed in a straight line, were marked by bright lights, and shot flames from their exhausts—suggesting they might be jet or rocket-propelled.

The lights presumably were to aid in radio control, probably from piloted planes at a great distance.

The German communique said only that southern England and the greater London area were attacked with novel weapons and "super heavy" explosives were dropped.

Nazis Voice Hateful Glee

A special note broadcast after the communique of the high command and "there is hardly one German who will not receive this news with greatest satisfaction. The feelings of hatred and a burning wish for retaliation which dominate the German people have been kindled by our enemies in their terror crimes."

The British ministry of home security ordered civilians to stay away from the pilotless aircraft, which explode five to 15 seconds after landing.

One correspondent telephoned this word picture of the pilotless craft:

"The planes have a distinctive, rhythmic note, giving the effect of a pulsating, low throb. They are much smaller than a Spitfire but their appearance is much the same.

"They really are midget planes. At night they show a distinct yellow glow at the rear and in the light of searchlights streams of thick smoke can be seen being ejected from them.

"Many of them have been observed in daylight and on several occasions RAF fighters, with total disregard of danger, have dived into the ack ack fire around them in attempts to make a kill."

As the day wore on alerts and all clears alternated over southern England and guns cracked intermittently, but the nation's

Today's Fifth War Loan Scoreboard in Marion County

Goal	$3,365,000.00
Sales Yesterday	33,157.50
Previous Sales	148,015.25
Total to Date	181,172.75
Yet to be raised	3,183,827.25

Sales to date include $151,687.75 in E bonds, 18 per cent of the county's $819,000 E bond quota.

E BOND SALES HELP CAMPAIGN

Marion County Makes 18 Per Cent of Quota in First Four Days.

E bond purchasers continued to carry the ball in Marion county's fifth War Loan gains today.

Three hundred and seventy-eight of them bought $22,069 worth of E bonds yesterday to give the county an E bond total of $151,687.75 to date. This is more than 18 per cent of the $819,000 E bond quota, with the drive only four days spent.

The overall picture is not so bright, with a total of $181,172.75 in individual purchases of all denominations reported, representing only a little more than five per cent of the $3,365,000 total quota for the county. However, this percentage figure will leap upward when the sales to businesses and corporations, now being withheld from the drive figures, are counted in after June 26.

The city's residential campaign workers, made up of Civilian Defense organization members, went into Marion homes last night and returned with orders for $6,487.50, not as much as the preceding night's total but better than the opening night. This brought their total sales up to $23,809.50, a figure which drive leaders considered a satisfactory showing in view of the fact that thousands of Marion residents are buying their

ALLIES ADVANCING RAPIDLY IN ITALY

By The Associated Press

ROME, June 16 — The Allies smashed forward from the Adriatic to the Tyrrhenian sea today, some troops advancing as much as 25 miles in 24 hours, and capturing such important highway towns as Acquapendente, Narni and Terni along the way.

Farthest advance came by the Eighth army in the capture of Todi, approximately 60 airline miles northeast of Rome, and only 85 miles south of Pisa-Rimini line, where the fleeing Germans may make a stand.

There has been no sign of any organized enemy defense in front of a line running from Pisa on the west coast through the city of Florence to Rimini on the Adriatic.

The Fifth army pushed above lake Boisena and captured Acquapendente, about seven miles north on highway two.

The Eighth army captured the important industrial and communications center of Terni, 45 miles northwest of Rome, and the highway junction town of Narni, about seven miles southwest of Terni.

B-29 Bomber Gave ASC Its Toughest Task

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., June 16—The Air Service Command said today it whipped its toughest assignment in "assembling supplies and equipment and personnel for the payoff which finally came yesterday" when B-29 Super-Fortresses raided Japan.

Headquarters of the ASC at nearby Patterson Field told in a formal announcement how it met the gigantic task of helping groom the world's mightiest warplanes for their dramatic mission.

The ink was barely dry on production plans for the monster bombers when the ASC, assigned to supply and maintain all Army aircraft, began taking "unprecedented" steps to make certain the superships would be in top fighting trim when they delivered their bomb loads to the Japanese homeland, the announcement said.

Bases Set Up, Crews Formed

Bases were established; special repair crews were trained; factories were "robbed" of equipment vital to war production but even more important to the Super-Fortress program, cargo planes were converted into flying machine shops that could repair a B-29 wherever aircraft could land.

A special committee of key ASC personnel, sometimes going without sleep for days ironed out the most difficult kinks in the knotty assignment.

(Turn to ASC TASK, Page 10)

MISHAPS IN FLIGHT CAUSE LOSS OF TWO GIANT SUPER-FORTS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 16—America's first task force of the mighty B-29 Super-Fortresses of the air lost no planes to enemy action in yesterday's raid that hit industrial targets at Yawata, Japan.

Two planes, however, were lost through accidents, the war department said in the second communique of yesterday's historic aerial strike against the Japanese mainland—made from Chinese bases.

The crew of one plane lost is known to be safe, the department said.

Report Accurate Bombing

It added that fliers who participated in the mission said the bombing was accurate and that large fires and explosions were observed.

A communique issued by headquarters of the new 20th air force, controlling the operations of the Super-Fortresses around the world, was based on preliminary and incomplete reports from the combat zone.

The formation was described as "a sizeable task force," operating from recently-completed bases in China.

Text of Air Force Communique

The text of the 20th air force communique:

"A sizeable task force of B-29's from the 20th bomber command bombed industrial targets at Yawata on the Kyushu island in the Japanese homeland on Thursday, June 15.

"Preliminary reports reveal that although enemy aircraft were encountered and anti-aircraft was moderate to intense, none of the planes was lost as a result of enemy action.

"Fliers who participated in the mission report the bombing was accurate and that large fires and explosions were observed.

"The planes operated from bases in China which were completed recently. Two B-29's were lost as the result of accidents, one crew of which is safe. This communique is based on the preliminary incomplete reports from the combat zone."

The raid, leaving behind "glowing masses of wreckage," gave the Nipponese empire, in the words of an eyewitness "her answer to Dec. 7, 1941—Pearl Harbor."

Newsmen Report

Radio Correspondent Roy Porter, first to report of 11 newsmen who accompanied the aerial dreadnaughts on their historic mission, said in a broadcast over the combined networks from the Far East that "tons upon tons of bombs were dropped" on coke ovens and open hearth furnaces of Japanese steel mills.

Porter's only reference to a specific target was to name Yawata, but the Tokyo radio said Moji and Kokura also were hit. All three are in northern Kyushu, southernmost portion of the Japanese mainland.

An earlier enemy broadcast had acknowledged that the Yawata plant of the Japan Iron Manufacturing Company had been hit with "a few bomb fragments" but asserted there was "no damage whatever to plant facilities."

As the fury of the Pacific offensive mounted hour by hour—first with disclosure of the B-29 raid and later the announcement of American landings on Saipan island in the Marianas—the Japanese reported an attack by an allied naval task force on the Bonin island group, less than 700 miles southeast of Japan proper.

The imperial headquarters communique broadcast by Domei said planes from the task force hit Chichi Jima, an island in the northern section of the Bonin group, and Iwo Jima, about 100 miles to the southeast. There was no allied confirmation of the Bonin reports.

The Tokyo radio, after a long silence following the war department announcement yesterday of the B-29 raid, finally said industrial areas of Moji and Shimonoseki were hit. Early today it belittled the assault. It did however, in a broadcast of reports unconfirmed and wholly suspect, place the scenes of admitted damage within 500 airplane miles of Tokyo. The German radio, quot-

Tons Upon Tons of Bombs Rained on Jap Steel Mills in First Attack by B-29's

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, JUNE 16—America's Super-Fortresses left glowing masses of wreckage in the coke ovens and open hearth furnaces of the great Yawata steel mills in the curtain raiser attack of these B-29's on Japan yesterday, Radio Correspondent Roy Porter reported today in a broadcast from China.

The super-bombers, flying from bases in western China, ran into heavy anti-aircraft fire and encountered Japanese night fighters, but "nearly all the ships came back," said Porter, one of 11 war correspondents who witnessed the attack. Porter, a former Associated Press correspondent, represented the combined American radio networks on the raid.

Porter hinted that the B-29's had been in action before in a preliminary attack on Bangkok, Thailand, last week. A communique from Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's southeast Asia headquarters last Thursday said "strong forces of heavy bombers dealt Bangkok its heaviest blow of the war on June 5" (Monday) and that Japanese defenses were caught by surprise as the bombers attacked from all angles.

Imperial Steel Mills Hit

The target at Yawata was the Imperial Steel and Iron Works at the northern tip of Kyushu, Japan's southernmost home island, Porter disclosed. The mill is a mainstay in Japan's war industry.

The attack "was carried out with almost complete amazement to the Japs," Porter broadcast.

Porter's text, as transcribed by CBS:

"The attacks were swift and surprising. They came with almost complete amazement to the Japs. We'd run into rigorous action with that mysterious weapon of American planning and skill, the Super-Fortress, known as the B-29.

"Tons upon tons of bombs were dropped on the coke-ovens and open hearth furnaces. Japanese anti-aircraft fire poured into the sky, and shell-fragments dig deeply into the super-bombers but the engines kept turning and nearly all the ships came home. Eleven war correspondents were on the trip to see, at the invitation of the 20th bomber command the show of shows. And when the planes had turned homeward, leaving behind the glowing masses of wreckage Japan had had her answer to December 7, 1941, at Pearl Harbor.

Call Them Dragon Flies

"It's not too much to say that the silver and olive drab dragonflies, as some of the crews have nicknamed these new B-29's, have struck at the heart of the dragon itself. And simultaneously the news came of the preliminary raid that has been made on Japoccupied Bangkok in Thailand, in the last week. The dragon fly is beginning to make itself felt.

"The attack on the Japanese mainland by the B-29's demonstrated one fact which our air force has long been endeavoring to learn. The lesson being studied today, as the reports of pilots and crews are compiled, is that while the enemy was caught by surprise in the initial attacks, he has prepared defenses and he can marshal enough night-fighter planes to cause at least some interference with our bombing pattern. For the most part, during the first period of this regular mission against the Japanese mainland, very little developed except SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 16—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander, and air chief marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, deputy supreme commander, have visited Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of ground forces in the Normandy invasion, on the "eastern sectors of the beachhead," supreme headquarters announced.

NEW YORK, June 16—The Japanese Domei agency said today in a broadcast reported by federal communications commission monitors that several enemy planes had raided Korea (Chosen) Asiatic mainland area immediately opposite Japan. The broadcast, transmitted to occupied East Asia areas, said the planes hit in southern Korea. It quoted an announcement issued by the Japanese army in Keijo (Seoul) that "we suffered no losses."

The petition stated the minister was removed from the church pastorate after a controversy, but refused to quit the manse.

SOVIETS PIERCE NEW FINN LINE

Red Troops Smash Through One of Last Defense Barriers Before Viipuri.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, June 16—The Red army has mashed its way through Finland's "new Mannerheim line," one of the last barriers on the way to the important seaport of Viipuri, it was reported today.

A Red Star dispatch said the New Mannerheim line was a tremendous fortification, with four lines of walls made of cone-shaped stone and anti-tank blocks almost two yards high, before which lay an anti-tank mine field 20 yards wide and strewn with German mines.

A great gap has been cut in this line, and in some places Soviet tanks and artillery, as well as infantry, are considerably beyond it, the dispatch said.

Line Well Fortified

Major Konstantin Shvankov, Red correspondent and first newsman to go through the new line, said that behind the tank blocks the Finns had built an elaborate system of trenches and dugouts, with steel and concrete platforms for anti-tank rifles, machine guns and mortars.

The trenches are connected with bullet and bombproof shelters about 50 yards away. These had steel and concrete covering

Japanese Report U. S. Attack on Bonin Island

NEW YORK, June 16 — The Japanese announced today that an Allied naval task force yesterday afternoon attacked the Bonin island group, between 600 and 700 miles southeast of Japan proper.

An imperial headquarters communique broadcast by Domei said planes from the force struck at two of the islands—Chichi Jima, in the northern section of the group, and Iwo Jima, about 100 miles to the southeast.

Although Allied sources have made no mention of such a raid so close to Japan, the enemy report came while American landing forces were battling the Japanese garrisons after going ashore in the Marianas, another 700 miles or so to the southeast.

U. S. Invasion Troops Advance Against Jap Tanks at Saipan

By The Associated Press

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, JUNE 16—American troops, landed by the most experienced invasion fleet in the world, advanced against Japanese tanks, artillery and soldiers today 1,500 miles southeast of Tokyo at Saipan in the Marianas—potential base for the B-29's which raided Japan Thursday.

Covered by battleship guns and rocket-firing carrier planes, the Yanks secured beachheads yesterday, moving in from behind Saipan, a 72 square mile island 3,800 miles southeast of Pearl Harbor.

They captured Aglingan point, a headland on the southwest coast. They battled two miles across canefields to the sugar mill community of Charan-Kanoa. They were placed in reports covering action through Thursday within five miles of Garapan, Saipan's major town of 10,000 population.

Supported by shells of offshore warships and bombs of planes from aircraft carriers, they beat off a series of stiff counter-attacks by Japanese tanks.

Calls Progress "Good"

"In general, fighting is heavy but good progress is being made against well organized defenses," Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced last night in his second communique on the operation. The first announced the invasion but supplied no confirmation of a Tokyo radio report that an attempt also had been made to invade nearby Tinian.

(Tinian was not mentioned, however, in a Friday morning Imperial headquarters announcement transmitted to Japanese areas by Tokyo radio and monitored in New York by NBC.)

Battleships and cruisers, opening up with their guns after carrier planes knocked out Japan's southern Marianas air force Saturday and Sunday, silenced most of the Saipan coastal batteries and anti-aircraft positions.

Shells of the warships and rockets fired by planes and infantry landing craft effectively curtained the troops moving ashore.

"Initial reports indicate our casualties are moderate," Admiral Nimitz said. Tokyo radio claimed the invaders sustained 1,800 cas-

Tappan Co. Turning Out Booster Tanks for Planes at Scioto Plant

Former Fuse Line Quickly Pressed Into Service for New Use; 88 Per Cent of Employes Are Women.

Tear-drop shaped booster tanks, which enable U. S. fighter planes to strike deeper inside Hitler's European fortress than ever before, are rolling off the assembly line of the Tappan Stove Company's branch plant at the Scioto Ordnance Plant, officials of the company disclosed today. It was the first official announcement of the company's product at the Scioto plant.

From bare walls to production in exactly 27 days with only four experienced personnel on the job was the record established getting the plant ready to produce. Most of the equipment had to be built on the spot to set up for production that now covers over 57,000 square feet.

When the army signed the contract with the Tappan Stove Co. at Mansfield, it was explained, "Those booster tanks make the difference between a fighter plane getting to Berlin and not getting there. They are needed just as quickly as they can be built."

Leased Old Fuse Line

The company leased the buildings which housed one fuse line of the discontinued Scioto Ordnance Plant. To W. R. Tappan, who has been in charge of war products contracts at the Mansfield plant, was assigned the job of getting the droppable fuel tanks into production.

Under his supervision and the experienced men from the Mansfield plant, the ordnance work-line was being revamped on Feb. 15.

W. R. Mabee, superintendent; Ralph Allenbaugh, factory engineer; Roger Roser, project engineer; and R. W. Blackledge, in charge of production, planned the renovation.

The buildings had to be entirely rewired, new poles had to be set, cables had to be run into the building.

Slushing Machine

Meanwhile, a special "slushing machine" was built which pours paint into the tanks, paints the interior and automatically transfers the paint to the next tank without rehandling.

Tank parts were ordered and a new loading dock was built to unload shipments of incoming materials and later to be used for shipments of completed tanks to the Army Air Forces.

The labor problem was solved by the employment of women, and today 88 per cent of the personnel is composed of women.

The tank shells arrive at the plant in halves from the Mullins Mfg. Corp., of Salem, O., where they are fabricated. Wire gauze which also had to be provided from an artificial installation—valves and intakes are brazed to the shells bulkheads, to keep gasoline from "geysering" and expanding the tanks are installed. Hangers, to fasten the tanks to the planes, are riveted on and soldered to prevent leakage.

Finishing Operations

The halves are de-greased and welded, first with a tack-weld and then with a seam-weld to make them airtight. The completed shell is tested under water for possible leaks before it is dried with infra-red rays, sloshed with fuel-resistant paint, aerated to remove fumes and again infra-red baked. Upon the completion of these operations, the shells are ready for the three exterior coats of paint, labeling and crating for shipment. Rigid Air Forces inspection is given every operation and the completed unit.

From the shipping room the tanks go wherever the Air Forces need them as auxiliary equipment for P-51 Mustang fighters, P-47 Thunderbolts and the P-40 Warhawks. Tanks are also being built for the new P-63 Airacobra. This 75-gallon tank production is in addition to the large order for 150-gallon tanks (droppable) now in mass production at the Mansfield plant.

On March 13, the first of the tanks left the conveyor belt, just a little less than four weeks from the time that the renovation plans were made.

"We have made a wonderful showing through the cooperation of all concerned," Tappan stated, "and we have pledged ourselves to the unlimited production of tanks with the greatest amount of efficiency and speed."

ONE NEWSMAN KILLED, SIX HURT IN INVASION

Fatal Injuries Suffered by British Correspondent.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 16.—One member of the United Nations invasion press corps has been killed and six others injured while covering the western front to date.

Arthur Thorpe, naval correspondent for the Exchange Telegraph, British agency, was killed in action at sea June 11.

Among the injured were two Associated Press men, Don Whitehead, of Harlan, Ky., who suffered a knee injury in an unexplained way but still is on the job on the invasion beachhead, and Henry B. Jameson, of Abilene, Kas., who suffered a wrenched shoulder and flak wounds on D-day. He has been reassigned to less strenuous duties in Great Britain.

Other injured were:

Phil Bucknell of Ridgefield park and West Point Pleasant, N. J., on the staff of the army newspaper, Stars and Stripes. He broke a leg when he jumped with paratroopers.

Gordon Gaskill of Knoxville and Chattanooga, Tenn., covering the invasion for the American magazine. He suffered a shrapnel splinter wound in the left shoulder and a slight bullet wound in the stomach.

John MacVane of Portland, Me., National Broadcasting Company reporter. He sprained an ankle.

Joseph Anthony Dearing, of Palo Alto, Calif., Collier's magazine photographer. A machine-gun bullet from a strafing German plane splintered a wrist bone.

Seebees Make Dreams Come True for Boy, 7

By The Associated Press

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 16.—All the dreams he has dreamed for long and lonely months in a steel frame in a hospital bed came true yesterday for Jimmie Carrick, seven-year-old crippled Pittsburgh lad who has been adopted as the mascot of 265,000 Seabees all over the world.

After an exciting overnight trip with his parents from Pittsburgh to Providence in a special pullman car, Jimmie was whisked in a navy ambulance to Camp Thomas, Davisville, and greeted there as if he were an admiral.

He and his parents were installed in a neat white cottage in officers' row overlooking Narragansett bay.

Jimmie rested throughout the morning to build up his strength for one of the highlights of his visit scheduled for yesterday afternoon, a special review of 1,000 Seabees on the camp drill field in his honor.

This afternoon Jimmie will see his first baseball game between a Seabee team and the New York Giants, and tonight in his honor there will be a ball where he will have a chance to meet personally many of the seabees with whom he has been corresponding for the past two years.

The Office of Civilian Defense recruited more than 185,000 volunteers during 1943 to aid forest rangers on a part-time basis.

Kiwanis Members To Provide Counsel for Fatherless Boys

A project involving counsel to fatherless boys in Marion was presented to the Kiwanis club Thursday noon at the Hotel Harding. Presenting the project and explaining its function were William P. Brown, chairman of the boys and girls committee, Max Birnbaum, chairman of the under privileged children's committee and U. A. Nystrom, chairman of the vocational guidance committee. A survey is being conducted to determine the number of fatherless boys under 18 in Marion. The club hopes to have the project in working order by Sept. 1.

Inducting of new members was held and the following were welcomed into the club: Bernard Smith, Dr. V. C. Kissell, James A. Humble, Ben Peterson and L. Otis Porter. A. C. May was appointed chairman for the month.

Guests were Major Frederick G. Smith, of Louisville, Ky., Sgt. Albert Loeb of Tampa, Fla., Harry Kurtz of Cleveland and C. W. Angerman of Massillon.

Here's Petition That Led to "Father's Day"

LeMoyne Thomas of 318 Chestnut street, after reading an article in The Star earlier this week about the origin of Father's day, ran across the petition presented by Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash., to the Spokane Ministerial association in 1910 in behalf of the establishment of a Father's day. The short article which appeared in "Pipe Lore" magazine stated that Mrs. Dodd conceived the idea as a mark of esteem to her own father, William J. Smart, who reared his family alone after his wife's early death.

The petition pointed out that "A Father's day would call attention to such constructive teachings from the pulpit as would naturally point out the father's place in the home; the training of children; the safeguarding of the marriage tie and the protection of womanhood and childhood." The petition recommended the third Sunday in June be set apart for the special day and suggested the use of the rose as a suitable flower.

Theft Is To Much Even for Mother's Patience

Allen Campbell, 23, of 136 Union street, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse when he pleaded guilty in municipal court Wednesday to a charge of stealing from his mother.

Police were told Campbell had taken various articles from his mother and pawned them. The incident that exhausted even a mother's patience came when he pawned her electric iron and, after she had redeemed it at a pawn shop and took it back home, it disappeared again, authorities were told.

Piles Are Never 'Mild'

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves. Instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief. This can be done without knife, drugs or loss of time from work.

Public Invited To Inspect New Girl Scout Camp Near Upper Sandusky Sunday

The Florence M. Young Girl Scout camp, recently given to the Girl Scouts of Marion, will be the scene of an "open house" Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 p. m.

Girl Scout leaders and council members will be hostesses. The public is invited to visit the camp site. To reach the camp visitors may go north on route 23 through Little Sandusky for about two miles, turn east on the Wyandot county road 62, cross a bridge and turn left on Wyandot county road 60. The camp is then the second farm on the right. Sunday, the road will be marked in order that visitors may find their way more easily.

The new camp has already been used by several groups of scouts. Last week, two Girl Scout troops, 16 and 18, at Vernon Heights Junior High school, had all day outings at the camp.

Members of the Marion Girl Scout Council entertained Girl Scout leaders Monday evening at the camp. The council members served a picnic supper and afterward all explored the camp and as a result many suggestions for developing the site and for program activities have already been made. A highlight of the evening was presentation of service pins to many of the group who have been active in Girl Scouting for several years.

In recognition of more than 10 years continuous service in Girl Scouting, these council members were presented with 10 year service numerals: Mrs. Abe Scheen, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Mrs. F. L. Thomas and Mrs. J. W. Arant.

The following leaders were given five-year service numerals: Miss Barbara Fralich, Mrs. William Logos, Mrs. Earl Manter Miss Virginia O'Dowd and Mrs J. M. Parker.

Over five years of service to Girl Scouting has been given by these council members who received five-year service numerals: Mrs. R. G. Donley, Mrs. J. F. Frew, Mrs. Ellis Houghton, Mrs. Clifford Howser, Miss Elma Howser, Mrs. Ray R. King, Mrs. Ruth Kleinmaier, Mrs. Jesse Lott, Mrs. W. R. Martin, Mrs. Richard Myers, Mrs. J. E. Oliphant, Mrs. Ernest O. Smith and Mrs. Ben T. Wiant.

These leaders and council members who have been active more than three years were presented with midget Girl Scout pins: Mrs. Charles Dengler, Miss Esther Eggleston, Miss Marguerite Gehring, Mrs. E. E. Holt, Miss Ruth Kramer, Miss Mary Kull, Mrs. Forrest Smith, Mrs. Fillmore Young and Mrs. C. J. Zimmerman.

The men and women of the camp committee and others interested have been working on the camp site getting it ready to use and it is hoped that it will not be long before Girl Scout troops will be able to camp there.

FRIDAY, JUNE 16, 1944

40,000,000 Frenchmen

THERE are approximately 40,000,000 Frenchmen. A few thousand of these are in the Normandy invasion area. Less than a million, including Gen. Charles De Gaulle and his associates, have been living outside France during Germany's occupation of the country.

There is no basis available to any government or any commentator for broad conclusions about France, and any broad conclusions reached on narrow evidence may do serious disservice to both the winning of the war and the peace. No one can assume to speak at this juncture for 40,000,000 Frenchmen.

More than that, no one may speak about them with propriety, unless it is to call attention to their present condition for the purpose of averting hasty and half-baked conclusions. When France has been released from German occupation and again has a voice of its own, that will be time enough to jump at conclusions about it and its people.

There is danger that Americans, ever eager to jump from the dizzy heights of their naivete into the chasm of their disillusionment, may conclude they have wasted their sympathy on France because Gen. de Gaulle or some other isolated representative of the French people does not measure up to their behavior standards. There is danger that some Americans may lose sight of their objective in the war because they are preoccupied with the thought that Frenchmen are not properly grateful to them. The disillusionment that depressed them about Italy will be compounded in France as their commitments on French soil are increased. It is a mark of our juvenility in international relations that we are never prepared to face the fact that other nationalities are a mixture of good, bad and indifferent, like ourselves.

If there is any comfort to be derived from cynicism—and perhaps there is—it should be taken from the thought that the United States is not in World war II to win the unmixed gratitude of the French, Italians, the natives of the South Sea islands, the British, the Russians or anyone else. We are fighting for the security of the United States and its principles; whatever unmixed gratitude that accrues in the process is a bonus which can be credited to international goodwill.

United States forces are fighting in Europe to defeat Germany. They are fighting in Asia and the Pacific to defeat Japan. If these facts were as clearly recognized and as fully accepted by civilians as they seem to be by our fighting men, the time wasted on misgivings about the attitudes and conditions of the peoples affected in the battle areas could be saved for the more important work of winning the war.

Air Power's Objectives

IN VIEW of the ups and downs they have had, exponents of air power can not be blamed for their present silence on what they think has happened to Germany's once dreaded luftwaffe.

But if they were to think what circumstances now seem to justify, they must have concluded that Allied air power's objectives in the war have been attained. Those objectives were stated by Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the army air force, in his report to the secretary of war last January.

"It is difficult to appreciate the present struggle for air supremacy as representing anything short of a major turning point in the war," he said. "What American and Royal Air Force bombers can do to the whole German war machine, once the German fighter force is rendered impotent, needs no comment. The issue hangs now on which side first falters, weakens, and loses its punishing power . . . Our primary concern is to make the coming invasion as economical as possible . . ."

That was last January. The luftwaffe still was formidable. No one dreamed then that an invasion across the English Channel could be staged with almost no opposition from the air. "Air power properly deployed and employed can stop a sea-borne force," Gen. Arnold declared in his report. In June, the greatest invasion in history has been staged without important air opposition. At every point where German air power is needed, it is either absent, or insufficiently strong to be a major factor.

Germany's Supreme Commander

RUMORS of Marshal Rommel's fall from Hitlerian grace, insofar as they may be given serious consideration, must be reconciled with the fact that Adolf Hitler is supreme commander of Germany's military forces, in addition to being fuehrer and chancellor. A decision to throw out Rommel would have to come from Hitler, himself.

Hitler's military genius engineered the disaster at Stalingrad and shortly thereafter was reported in retirement while the supreme commander's generals handled the consequences. The Italian campaign apparently has been handled without the benefit of Hitler's master-minding, as was the African campaign which preceded it.

If the supreme commander were to be taking charge of things in France, the likeliest conclusion to be drawn from the Rommel rumor, it would be the best news since the weather cleared. It sounds too good to be true—a ruse to create over-confidence among the Allies.

Union Influence in Scattered Elections Called Comparatively Slight.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 16—The senate campaign expenditures committee merely argued with Sidney Hillman about the $669,761.11 worth of political action he promises to furnish, but did not investigate it.

A rather thorough private inquiry has been made by Chairman Dies of the UnAmerican activities committee. A considerable collection of material already is in the committee files, and Dies promised immediate hearings shortly after he retired from the race for re-election, because of a serious illness. But his health continues bad and he has not been able to return. Some house leaders are supposed to have urged him urging him to come as soon as possible.

The only other chance for a thorough investigation rests with the house political expenditures committee. It is charged directly with the duty of investigating labor politics, but may not have the time or money for more than a casual job.

Setbacks

Meanwhile, Mr. Hillman has not been getting his money's worth in at least two of the recent elections. The loss of the three top men on the Dies committee was publicly attributed to him and spread fear in congress, but little attention has been paid the Ohio primary of last May 9 where a complete analysis will show an entirely different story.

There, left-wing labor working with the cooperation of the AFL, to a considerable extent, fared badly. The CIO-indorsed man in the Democratic senatorial primary (Marvin C. Harrison) ran second to an old line Democrat, although carrying Cleveland two to one. A left-wing AFL leader, with CIO support, ran third for congressman-at-large. A popular AFL teamster leader in the county commissioners' contest, John Rohrich, ran third. In the other contests, the CIO crowd split about even.

New York Results

An even plainer set-back for the Hillman crowd was evident in the New York congressional election result on June 6. A great effort was made there. Hundreds of girls paraded the polls. A thorough, personal letter-writing campaign to all voters was conducted particularly below Fourteenth street where the Communists are strong. Yet the defeat of their man Cantwell is traced by wise politicos to Tammany.

Those in the know say the hall passed down word that nothing whatever should be done in his behalf. They evidently reasoned his victory would hurt them by increasing the Hillman Communists' political power. At any rate, CIO was not popular enough to win in these two best suited spots.

At the heart of all this dickering and arguing is the simple question of how much politicking labor unions are entitled to, and how much they are immune from public inspection.

Defined by Court

The CIO seems to take the position that any real investigation would be a "smear." On the other hand, a lot of congressmen think they have been smeared by CIO unsparingly. The supreme court tried to define a union in a case this week. It held:

"Structurally and functionally, a labor union is an institution which involves more than the private or personal interest of its members. It represents organized institutional activity as contrasted with wholly individual activity."

(The case involved the refusal of a union assistant superintendent to submit his books to the grand jury in a Pennsylvania fraud case.)

In another case, which may be historic, the court also held insurance companies could be subjected to congressional regulation. The left-wingers around here long have taken the attitude that federal control of insurance companies would be an excellent thing. They want insurance books not only opened but regulated. Their victory in the court has now opened the way for congress to do it.

Like Insurance Company

What is a labor union if it is not an insurance company? In simple theory, it functions in all ways as a mutual insurance organization, collecting dues to finance the security of the workers in various ways.

But while the left-wingers demand regulation of insurance companies in great righteousness, they pretend to believe the same regulation of their own organizational activity would be awful. There seems very little righteousness connected with the matter, only politics. If the insurance companies attempted to start a political campaign like Hillman's they would not only be subjected to investigation but to indictment.

ALGIERS—They forded the icy stream in darkness, and slogged forward in the treacherous sucking mud of the uncharted minefields. As their own supporting artillery fire died, the enemy's resistance became desperate, and intense orange tracers licked out like serpents' tongues. Mortars blew the mud into geysers.

When daylight came, the United States Fourth division had driven nearly half a mile.

Do you remember how last winter every half-mile seemed potentially decisive in opening up the mountain route to Rome?

Some of the wounded of the leading battalion could walk. Others came on stretchers, blood soaking through the canvas and dripping like a leaky faucet. Mud-smeared medics set them down gently on the stone floor of the stable with a sagging roof.

The chest cases made dry gasping noises. The others were silent — eyes closed, or staring frantically at the busy surgeon.

A boy with his khaki blanket pulled up to his chin spoke without a tremor when the surgeon drew it aside. "How is it, Doc?"

The face of Captain Leon Fill of Detroit was as impassive as marble. "OK," he said, as his surgical scissors snipped off two tattered strings of flesh which had been the boy's left foot. Fragments of a German mine had ripped both legs to the hip. The groin was a mass of torn flesh crusted with blood.

"I had 18 mine-wounded in four hours," the surgeon said later. "God, they were men destroyed—all but their spirit. I can't stand to see many more just now. Why is it that those who suffer most complain the least? How can you describe their sacrifice?"

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, June 16, 1924. A news report from New York giving a forecast of the Democratic national convention to be held there the following week said that William G. McAdoo would have in excess of 400 votes in the first ballot of the convention. Gov. Al Smith, another contender for the presidential nomination, would have nearly 300 and the balance of the votes would be scattered among a dozen candidates, according to the forecast.

It was announced Boy Scouts would make a canvass of the city in an effort to obtain $2,500 needed to make up the balance of a $6,700 fund for operating street lights in the residential districts. The lights had been off for several weeks because of lack of funds in the municipal treasury. CAMDEN, N. J.—War workers at their machines and benches throughout the country will be kept posted on invasion news, according to plans arranged by RCA Victor. Bulletins will be flashed to the workers at their jobs over plant broadcasting systems. About 4,500 factories, employing many millions of workers, are in this industrial network, it is estimated.

Convention Arrangements

Chicago Ready for Republicans, Democrats.

EXECUTIVES of the two big political parties work in harmony on at least one problem—their party conventions. In Chicago, Walter S. Hallanan, acting chairman of the Republican arrangements committee, and Amrose O'Connell, assistant chairman of the Democratic arrangements group, head small staffs functioning only a few floors apart in the big Stevens hotel.

They find time amid a steady clatter of ringing telephones to consult each other on such mutual problems as transportation and housing. Both promise lodgings for all essential visitors. Republicans have reserved 5,000 hotel rooms for visitors to their gathering starting June 27 and Democrats have reserved approximately the same number for their convention beginning July 19.

Hallanan estimates out-of-town Republican convention attendance this way—delegates and alternates, 2,016; press-radio, 1,500; party officials and members, congressmen and other spectators, 10,000.

O'Connell figures the Democratic conclave will have: delegates and alternates 2,956; press-radio, 1,500; party and government officials and congressmen, 600. He excludes any mention of people without official standing who may come to town to view the sessions.

The Chicago stadium where convention sessions will meet has 14,329 permanent seats in the mezzanine and two balconies, and 3,004 chairs will be placed on the main floor. That makes the seating capacity 17,343.

Some of the frills will be missing. But flags will flutter; red, white and blue bunting will be draped from balcony rails; state placards will be flourished; a band and an organ will play; and oratory and ovations will echo as of yore.

And, not only do the arrangers see eye-to-eye on making the physical plans for their conventions, they are ear-to-ear on the music. They have engaged the same band—the musicians of the Board of Trade post of the American Legion.

Seeds!

An immediate threat to the world's food supply is a shortage of seeds. A task force committee appointed by war food administration to organize production of legume seed crops warns that seed for 1945 pastures now is actually limited to the harvest from sod now on the ground.

This year in the east, dairy farmers could find only three-fourths of their requirements of red clover. England was cut off with a tenth of its seed demands. Russia could be given only half of its request. Stocks now are almost completely gone.

"To harvest seed from existing acreage is the obvious aim of all of us," says a plea from the committee. "Failure will mean depleting our food supply where it hurts most—in dairy and livestock production. It will mean sending more convoys of meat to our boys and allies overseas when a shipload of seed might have been sent to produce it abroad. The crucial stage is now upon us. First cuttings of clover are being or are about to be made. Fodder crops can still be planted to supplement feed supplies. If we are to have pasture next year, we must harvest seed now."

Chairman of the committee is John W. Nicolson, Shenandoah, Ia.

Grimly in the mind of each.

And the game is extra hot. . . .
Where through drawn lips comes the ance.
"Come on, show us whatcha got!"

Marching in as to a ball game—
Where the hearts are extra stout,
With the stirring homeland slogan,
"Get in there and sock 'er out!"
With the winning spirit calling—
"Hey! Back to the mitors, mate!" . . .

"Aw, the bum can't find the plate!"

To a ball game where the score

CANDIDATES' VIEWS WILL BE CONSIDERED

By The Associated Press

Supporters of the three leading possibilities for the Republican presidential nomination — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Gov. Bricker of Ohio and Lieut. Comrd. Harold E. Stassen—have assurances today that their favorite's views will receive consideration by the party's platform drafters.

Friends of Dewey already have conferred with some members of the resolutions committee which will start work on a platform June 21, prior to the nominating convention. They are understood to have given general approval to a tentative draft of a foreign policy plank and to have made known their stand on other issues.

Bricker's views will be represented on the committee by Senator Robert Taft (R-Ohio), who apparently is in line to become chairman of the group.

Senator Ball (R-Minn) said in Washington today he plans to appear before the committee June 24 to urge it to take a strong stand for international postwar peace cooperation, in line with the views of Stassen, former Minnesota governor who now is serving in the navy.

Marion Seaman In Aleutians Battle

A Marion boy, Merrill Loper, seaman third class cook, is a member of the crew of a heavy cruiser in the U. S. Task Force which took part in the battle of the Komandorski islands in the Aleutians. The details of this battle were related in an article in the Feb. 5, 1944, issue of The Saturday Evening Post, called "My Speed Zero" by John Bishop. In this battle the cruiser was hit twice by Jap shells but with the aid of its Destroyers was able to emerge victorious.

Seaman Loper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Loper of 318 Park street, was home recently on a 14-day furlough while his ship was in for repairs after another engagement. He had several souvenirs from the famous battle to show his parents. Among them was a piece of shrapnel about 12 inches long.

Graduating from Harding High school in 1941, Seaman Loper was employed by the Huber Manufacturing Co. before entering the service in October, 1942. Seven weeks after entering the service he was sent overseas and has been in the Aleutian area most of the time.

Paper Drive Nets $444 for Scouts

A total of 74,035 pounds of scrap paper was collected in the three days of a salvage paper drive which closed Thursday.

The total of over 32 tons netted $444.44 for improvements at Boy Scout Camp John A. Owens. Approximately eight tons of paper were collected in a canvass of the north part of the city Thursday, chairmen in plans closed the drive a day ahead of the original schedule and drive officials said that some paper remains to be picked up. It is probable that contributions will come to the Boy Scouts after the present drive is closed.

Scouts helped to gather paper from front porches and load it on trucks which traveled streets in collection areas.

ZONING ORDINANCE COURT TEST SEEN

Hearing Set After Grocery Operator's Arrest.

One section of the Marion zoning ordinance is apparently headed for another test in local courts.

The section to be tested embodies rules under which a building in a residential district may be used as a business property.

Yesterday city police arrested Mrs. Esther Placentina of 560 Oak street on a warrant charging her with changing a building at 170 Short street, in a residential district, into a business place without having it transferred to a commercial district and without permission of the Marion planning commission.

A plea of not guilty was entered by Mrs. Placentina through her attorney, George Geran, and a hearing was set for June 22.

Mrs. Placentina has been operating a grocery on Patten street for about three years until she was forced to move recently. She moved her business to 170 Short street where neighbors protested. A grocery was operated at the address for a number of years and for a time a hatchery was located at the same address, Mr. Geran said. He also said it was formerly a barn and has never been a residence.

Mr. Geran stated the validity of a section added to the ordinance in 1939 would be questioned on the basis that the wording of the section is too indefinite and unreasonable. The store at 170 Short street is being operating pending the outcome of the court action.

WANTS SHACKLES TAKEN FROM TRADE

CLEVELAND, June 16—Calling for the "honorable discharge of industry from wartime regulations as soon as possible," T. M. Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel Corp., today asserted "there are some who would like to see business continue doing 'squads right' and 'squads left' for a long time to come."

In an address prepared for the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, the head of the nation's No. 3 steel producer declared:

"I am convinced that if these wartime restrictions on industry are held over to meet the conversion crisis, there is real danger they will be required later to meet other crises, and still others, on and on into perpetuity."

The industrialist, who also is chairman of the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp., criticized "the strange spectacle of Uncle Sam turned union organizer and dues collector.

"Out of that has come the upbuilding of great labor unions with lage financial resources and tremendous economic and political power."

Commenting on some of the "disturbing factors" in the postwar outlook for labor relations, Girdler said "the growth of labor organizations in itself is not disturbing. Collective bargaining is necessary in modern industry, * * * but collective bargaining by government edict at the point of a bayonet ceases to be collective bargaining. It ceases to be democracy."

Girdler disclosed his intention of retiring from the aviation industry at the close of the war, "to devote my time entirely to steel."

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

PURPOSE EXPLAINED

Editor of The Star:

In reading many letters in regards to our paid advertisement which appeared in your paper paying tribute to the heroes who have paid the supreme sacrifice in this great war, and those that are still fighting to preserve the democracy for which this great country stands, we can assure you that our intentions were not to hurt any one, we thought that this was a time a tribute we could fund to express our appreciation, on such a day as "Memorial Day," it was with humane mode that we were proud to do so little in showing our gratitude to those that have done so much.

If the tribute that we offered, over our signature has offended any one we extend our apology, as our wish is not to hurt any one. In offering our apology we do so, only, as one person to another, as we feel that we do not have to apologize for the liquor industry, as their war efforts speak for themselves. Today the distilleries are producing alcohol only for war products, such as, its use in medical products, to help save the lives of our boys; its use in making synthetic rubber, to keep our great war machine rolling. Its use in making bombs and ammunition, to help bring victory sooner; the part that it takes in paying taxes, buying war bonds, giving blood to the Red Cross, and its countless contributions to USO centers and many other war relief agencies, and for such efforts we will take our place with our business neighbors next door.

And, God, we believe, will not pass judgment on us for what we do, but, what we are, when the time comes.

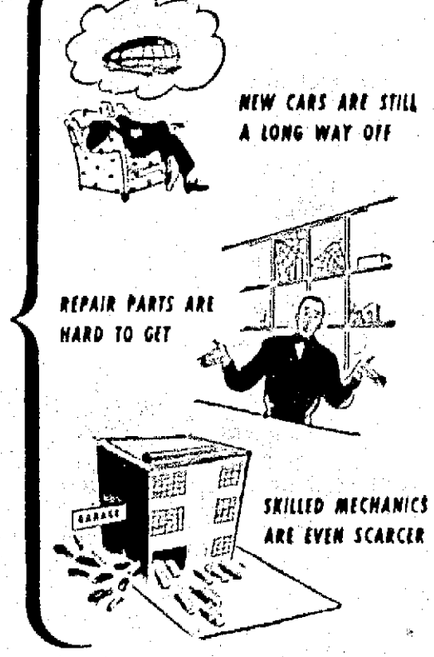
DON'T FLIRT WITH "START-UP" DAMAGE



One start-up can put 200 miles of unnecessary wear on your motor in one minute

LOOK OUT. Ordinary oil drains and dries off pistons and cylinder walls when you switch off the ignition, leaving these vital parts dry—with inadequate lubrication when you start up. Automotive experts warn that this can put as much wear on your motor in one minute as you'd get in up to 200 MILES of normal "warmed-up" driving.

Get "Start-up" protection, today . . . by changing to Marathon V.E.P. ALLOYED-OIL

V.E.P. IS THE NEW, patented alloyed oil which makes your motor last half again as long as it would with ordinary oil. Its "magnetic-like" action makes it cling to pistons and cylinder walls for days, even weeks . . . to give immediate lubrication when you step on the starter. V.E.P. also rids your motor of harmful sludge, carbon, varnish. It frees up rings and valves to give more efficient operation, more miles from precious coupons. Get V.E.P. protection today.

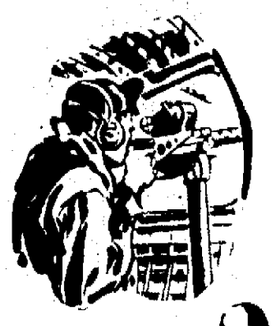
ONCE THERE WAS



A GUNNER . . . He was just a freckled face kid with nerves like iron and a steady hand. The crew he flew with called him "junior" and spoke about him with a smile on their lips, but with plenty of admiration in their eyes—he'd gotten them out of more than one tight spot. They gave his mother the Distinguished Flying Cross after his last mission. He would have been proud of that medal.

A PARATROOPER . . . He was a tall guy and tough as they come—paratroopers have to be tough. But he had a grin that was mighty contagious and there wasn't an ounce of fear in him. His job was dangerous and that suited him fine because he wanted to fight and fight hard to get this war over. He had more than his share of fighting before the report came in "Missing in Action."

AN INFANTRYMAN . . . He was G. I. Joe through and through. He wore his cap at a cocky angle and carried his girl's picture in his wallet. He was never serious about anything except his shooting—and he was mighty proud of that for he sported several sharp shooting medals. He got his at Cassino—right in the thick of the fighting which is the way he would have wanted.

RAF STAGES SECOND SMASHING DAY RAID

By The Associated Press

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 16—The Allied aerial offensive against continental targets swept on today after RAF heavy bombers made their second big, high-altitude, pre-dusk precision attack yesterday plastering 12,000-pound bombs on Nazi E-boat, R-boat and mine-sweeper pens at Boulogne.

As the aerial assault in support of the Normandy invasion rolled on this morning, the German radio reported hostile aircraft approaching the Austrian provinces of Carinthia and Styria.

Big British four-engine Lancasters, with their fighter escort, hit the French channel port of Boulogne first at 10:30 p. m. (11:30 p. m. EWT) yesterday—just before dusk. The attack was similar to one the RAF made Wednesday night on installations at Le Havre—a strike which reconnaissance indicated was very successful.

Land Bases for Air Blows at Japs Big News of B-29 Raid

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The significance of the sensational American bombing of Japan lies not in the mere fact that we've struck a terrifying blow at the mikado's own domains, for we've done that before, but that at last we are operating from land bases—not aircraft carriers.

This presumably marks the beginning of regular air assaults on the Japanese homeland, and by bombers so huge and powerful that the largest machines previously employed (and they are monsters) are relegated to the position of mere "mediums." With the bombs from these leviathans tearing at the bowels of General Tojo's industries, we shall achieve a great shortening of the war in the Orient.

Our high command is purposely withholding details of this historic raid so as not to give the enemy information. The Japanese have said that we have bombed industrial areas of Moji and Shimonoseki, within 500 miles of Tokyo. Such an admission means that whatever we did, it was plenty.

Japs Are Fearful

However, the Nipponese probably weren't really surprised, for they had foreseen this development. That's one of the reasons for their present all-out offensive to capture the Hankow-Canton railway through the heart of China and create a barrier against Allied progress eastward towards the coast. The Japanese have been fearful of the establishment of new American airfields in China. Well, perhaps their fears were justified.

Our daring amphibious invasion of Saipan island in the Marianas after a heavy bombardment is a further shocking blow to Japan. Possession of this strategic point would give us another air base from which we could hammer the motherland. It also helps to nullify the effectiveness of Truk—Japan's most powerful naval and air base in the central Pacific.

Bombs over Japan and Saipan are a mighty fine echo to the Allied onslaught in Normandy. The United Nations are turning loose an avalanche of irresistibe power right around the globe.

Allies Keep Initiative

The Allied flags fly high over Cherbourg peninsula, although the Germans are battling furiously to save their Atlantic wall. The official communique today gives us in terse language the news we want to hear:

"All attempts by the enemy to gain the initiative have been frustrated and counter-attacks have been successfully repelled. Our striking power grows steadily."

That's the bright side. There's tragedy among the poppies of the recently smiling fields of Normandy. We must be prepared to learn in due course that the great victory which the Allies are carving out of this terrific struggle isn't being won without sacrifice.

The Germans are insisting that further Allied invasions are imminent—and who are we to dispute them? They say that new landings at Calais and Ostende, in the narrow part of the English channel are expected momentarily.

searchlights and anti-aircraft. In the second phase, the anti-aircraft fire died down.

Night Fighters in Air

"That is experienced fliers is the signal that night fighters have taken off. The third period was the crucial one, when the Jap fighters actually pressed their attack home * * * with only meager results. B-29's reporting back to bases in the early hours of Friday could show some bullet-holes but very little material damage. The B-29, planned and executed as an offensive weapon was, its own pilots believe, proved its worth.

"The primary result of the attack against Yawata was surprise. The first dips over the target found that the area was unguarded against the destructive results of the bomb-loads. In itself, that one factor is of vital importance since the iron and steel company in the harbor area is the factory that Japan needs to keep her war machine running against us and our Allies. What effect this bombing mission may have on the course of the war not even the people who have planned the raid will know, but it is an assured fact that the whole plan, mapped out long ago and carried through to relatively successful conclusion, has brought more importance to our long-range bombing program and similarly to the enemy's often-publicized defense plan.

Entirely American Show

fenses there, but they also know "The boys who flew the raid last night now know that there are defthat they are not as formidable as they have been made out to be by the Japs. The B-29 raid, the first on the Japanese mainland from Chinese bases, started off with a bang and finished with a flourish. From first to finish, it was an American show, with American planes, American bombs, American apparatus and American crews.

"But there are two other nations involved in the planning of this gigantic air offensive. First, China—because without hundreds of thousands of Chinese laborers called 'coolies,' the raids would never have been possible, because there would have been no airfields from which to bomb. The second nation involved—that's Japan, involved itself by the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor on that infamous day of Dec. 7, 1941."

Mill Hit Produces Fifth of Jap Steel

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
AP War Correspondent.

U. S. SUPER-FORTRESS BASE IN WESTERN CHINA, June 16—American B-29's, the new super-fortress, struck a terrific body blow at Japan's war industry and may have knocked out a fifth of the empire's steel production in yesterday's raid on Yawata, the Pittsburgh of Japan.

The world's most powerful warplanes made the longest bombing flight in history and left trains of demolition bombs bursting in the Imperial Iron and Steel Works at Yawata in northern Kyushu.

"This is but the beginning of our organized destruction of the Japanese industrial empire," commented Brig. Gen. Kenneth B. Wolfe, who was chiefly responsible for the production of the B-29.

The Imperial Works, largest in the Japanese empire, is credited with 20 per cent of Japanese steel production.

Yesterday's mission was a combined psychological and strategical stroke at the maximum power of the long-secret 20th bomber command.

Two B-29's failed to return.

(The war department in Washington announced that these two were lost because of accidents and not because of enemy action, and that the crew of one was known to be safe.)

The raid came on the heels of Japanese Premier Hideki Tojo's declaration that the Japanese themselves were preparing a surprise. Japanese stations were broadcasting English versions of the premier's declaration, and playing pirated American swing music when Wolfe's raider pack came in on their silvery 141-foot wings.

The first target attacked in Japan by the new weapon was one of the most strongly defended in the Japanese home islands.

Wolfe, aground by war department order, was sweating out the mission in his ward room with Maj. Gen. George B. Stratemeyer, second in command of allied air forces in the southeast Asia theater, when the first Super-Fortress flashed the code word, "Betty," meaning that the bombs were away, at 10:58 p. m., local time, or 3:58 p. m., Thursday, Greenwich mean time. (11:58 a. m., Thursday, eastern war time, or 12:58 a. m., Friday, Japanese time.)

Said Stratemeyer, "Wolfe, congratulations! This is the start of the finish."

The Super-Fortress which can carry more explosives faster, higher and farther than any other plane, flew from a network of bases laboriously carved from western China plains by 450,000 conscript and contract Chinese laborers—men, women and children.

Except for the Doolittle token raid this was the first time Japan had felt the brunt of real air power.

Actually, however, this was the second Super-Fortress raid. These planes bombed the Makasan railway shops at Bangkok June 5 in a combat shakedown operation.

A southeast Asia communique of June 8 called this the "heaviest blow of the war" on Bangkok.

"Black smoke rose to great heights through the clouds as the bombers, despite bad weather, pressed home widespread attacks on railway shops and marshalling yards," th ecommunique said that day.

"The city's defenses apparently were caught by surprise as the formations converging on the target at a great height from all angles dropped a record tonnage of demolition and incendiary bombs on this important Japanese port.

"Anti-aircraft fire was heavy but generally ineffective and only a few planes rose to intercept. These, however, failed to attack the mass formations."

ualties and lost 40 landing barges.

The Yanks moved from the beaches against enemy mortar, machinegun and artillery fire.

Saipan is relatively flat, adaptable for the Super Fortresses which loosed their destruction Thursday on Japan's industrial areas. But the same flatness prompted the invasion commander, Vice Adm. Richmond Kelly Turner, to expect opposition for the first time in the Pacific amphibious campaigns by mobile artillery. He warned that lightning victories in the Marshalls may not be duplicated at Saipan.

William L. Worden, Associated Press war correspondent who accompanied the expeditionary force, said Admiral Turner described the huge force of men and ships "as the most experienced amphibious war fleet in the world."

extra Fifth War Loan bonds at their places of employment.

The sirens will be sounded again tonight at 7 for a continuation of the residential drive. W. E. Orcutt, chairman of the residential campaign, called upon workers to complete their canvass by next Tuesday night, the last night the sirens are scheduled to be used.

Headquarters Schedule

He said the war bond headquarters on North State street will be kept open tomorrow afternoon from 1 to 5 in addition to Saturday night from 7:30 to 10:30 for the convenience of bond drive workers. Those on duty last night at the headquarters were Mr. Orcutt, Anson Pickerel, C. W. Stafford, Mrs. Esther Phillians and Police Patrolman Henry Tong.

Drive officials noted with satisfaction that the residential drive is bringing in many partially filled stamp books along with enough cash to round out payment for a bond.

ASC TASK

Officers acted with greatest secrecy, lightning speed and almost limitless authority. They were empowered to "stop trains, halt production lines and order special flights," the announcement declared. Nothing was allowed to slow the development of the dreadnaught of the skies.

Some critical equipment needed at an inland depot was put on an express car and coupled to a streamlined passenger train at New York, the ASC related. Railway officials at Philadelphia decided to put it on another train, but an ASC officer ordered military police to halt the streamliner until he could reach the president of the railroad. The express car stayed on the streamliner.

Toughest ASC Task

The task, begun last summer, "was the toughest assignment ever faced by a command accustomed to difficult tasks," the announcement said. "Here was a job of getting the B-29 ready for flying and for combat when the big plane hardly existed. The B-29 consists of 100,000 separate components. They all had to be assembled for the plane's maintenance.

"Bases along the route taken by the ship to the combat theater in which they operated had to be established. Spare parts, cranes and other equipment had to be available at these way stations. Runways had to be prepared so the big ships could land. Men had to be trained to repair the plane with its new and highly complicated equipment."

C-46 Commando cargo planes were converted into flying repair shops, equipped with lathes, borers, welding apparatus and other machinery "stolen" from warplants.

Spectacular episodes "became commonplace" in this great war drama, the ASC reported. And then, yesterday, came the "payoff."

on the sides, with room inside for 15 soldiers.

"The Finns considered the new Mannerheim line impassable for the Red army," Shvankov wrote.

The main breakthrough was in the region of Kuuterselkae with the new Mannerheim line running from the southwest to the northeast, deep in swamps and forests.

Gulf Line Broken

A quarter mile away from the trenches the Finns had three additional banks of tank blocks built around steel shelters.

Red Star said the Soviets smashed the line at the gulf of Finland coast and also captured an important highway crossing.

The new line was broken by artillery and concentrated pounding by bombers and Stormoviks, the Russian attack bomber.

Dispatches said the Finns defended the second line much more fiercely than the original line.

The northwest corner of New Mexico, joining Arizona, Utah and Colorado, is the only point in the United States where four states meet.

MARION COACH GETS POSITION IN GALION

Robert McCracken Is Named Assistant Grid Mentor.

GALION, June 16—Robert G. McCracken, for the past two years instructor and head football and basketball coach at Central and at Vernon Heights Junior High schools in Marion, was appointed assistant football mentor of Galion High school and physical education teacher in both the high school and junior high school when the Galion board of education held a special meeting Thursday night.

McCracken, 24, is a native of Delaware. He graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university in 1942. His appointment to the Galion athletic post is was recommended to the board of education by Robert Sheffer, named recently to succeed James Lymper as head football coach. Lymper has assumed assistant coaching duties at Mansfield High school.

McCracken coached both the grid and basketball teams of Vernon Heights in Marion this past year and was mentor of the Central athletic outfits for the 1942-43 campaign.

RAID ON JAPS

ing a Tokyo imperial headquarters broadcast, said it was reported that "no enemy aircraft were over Tokyo."

Other Japanese reports said planes were detected two hours ahead of their arrival over Japan, that "seven were brought down, including a B-29," and that the largest number of persons killed at any one place was "ten inmates of the Kokura army hospital."

But whether Tokyo was hit this time—a statement by Rep. Starnes (D-Ala.) in the house that great destruction had been wreaked on the Japanese capital went officially unconfirmed—there was no doubt that the B-29 was the plane to do it. It is described as a bomber of unequalled power, speed and range. Not until yesterday had the secret of its tremendous potentialities been disclosed.

American eyes that have not had so much pleasure in studying maps of the Japanese empire since the Doolittle raid of April, 1542, found events 1,500 miles to the southeast of Tokyo well tied in with yesterday's raids.

There, on the island of Saipan, American forces are storming ashore to seize land closer to the Japanese mainland than ever the Japanese got to the United States proper, even in their residence on Kiska in th Aleutians.

Once Saipan is firmly held, it will be a small matter for the B-29's to fly a devastating shuttle run across Japan to China, dropping their massive bombs and fierce incendiaries on the way.

In fact, Saipan is close enough that the big bombers could make it a round trip. Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the Army Air Forces everywhere, and special chief of the B-29's in their world assignment, has said that these Super-Fortresses could fly across the Atlantic and back without stopping.

Air officers cautioned against expecting too much at the start. For one thing, they eat up a lot of gasoline with their four 18-cylinder engines, and the supply problem in China admittedly is tough.

Saipan in our hands might be a different matter, for presumably gasoline and other supplies could be stocked up after a time for forays, one after another.

The unveiling of the Super-Fortresses, and the spectacular way in which they were unveiled, brought speeches of acclaim in congress and gratification all over the country.

INVASION

Montgomery's striking power "is growing daily."

Photographs of Le Havre after a raid by RAF Lancasters Wednesday night showed the German E-boats, which had been lurking there to attack the flanks of the ceaseless trans-channel convoys, had disappeared.

After the air attack allied battleships and cruisers gave the German-held port a brisk pounding.

Another part of the drive to cut off Cherbourg was a thrust between the Elle and Vire rivers southeast of Carentan which might be pointed toward St. Jean De Daye on the St. Lo-Carentan highway.

Quineville, small coastal town on the far right flank of the beachhead, fell to the Americans. Headquarters described this territorial gain as "a valuable new outlet from the beaches."

Fourteen miles below the port of Cherbourg, Montebourg still was in German hands but it had been outflanked by the Fourth American division's capture of Quineville. This division had the important Montebourg-Valognes road under artillery fire.

Reach Firm Ground

In the area of Carentan, key point in the line, the Americans had fought their way across districts flooded by the Germans and were on firm land in the area of the village of Baupte. The Germans themselves admitted the Americans were at Pretot, three miles beyond Baupt and barely six miles from La Haye Du Puits. Here the enemy launched stiff armored counter-attacks.

Activity was boiling up in the areas around Caumont and Villers-Bocage and there was a prospect that Gen. Montgomery might be ready to renew his drive here.

Confidence that the bridgehead now was secure was voiced officially at allied headquarters. "We now are entering the buildup phase," it was explained.

Despite unconfirmed reports that the Germans had started demolition of Cherbourg port facilities, there was no tangible evidence that the Nazis had started a withdrawal from the menaced tip of the peninsula.

Best estimates were that the Germans had committed 20 divisions, between 200,000 and 300,000 men, including four armored divisions, to the beachhead battle.

Hugh Bell of Marion Tallies First Victory in Local Circuit Meeting

2,500 Throng To Fairgrounds for Seventh Card.

By CHARLES ELLIOTT
Star Sports Editor

MARION'S HUGH BELL, runner-up in the Marion Little Grand Circuit meet last year in the race for driving laurels with 16 wins, scored his first victory in this season's meeting by coaxing Lowland Scott, a brown colt to straight heat triumphs in the $300 first division of the 24 pace at the county fairgrounds last night.

Bell and his horse, owned by Dean Edwards of Sunbury, experienced little difficulty in checking in the victory for the first event on the program, the seventh of the current Little Grand Circuit stand. Convincing wins by five length, three length and four length margins were posted by Bell, who led in driving wins in last year's meeting until the last few nights when Gube Gutnal rallied to finish with 17 victories.

A turn out of 2,500 equaling the attendance for the opening night of the meeting a week previous showed up for last night's card, which was featured by the $1,000 Stone's Grill Stake for 20 class pacers. Bonny Cash owned and driven by C. D. Brook of Somerset, Ind., won this highlight event in straight heats. The second race on the card, the second division of the 24 class pace was copped by Annie Laurie brown filly sired by Silent Grattan and driven by Carl Long, an Ohio driver. Annie Laurie won only one heat but her two second place finishes in the second and third session warranted her the recognition of event winner. Hava Hanover and Fama each won a race but their other two finishes couldn't compare with those of Annie Laurie.

Last night's card fit into the general pattern of this year's meet in the matter of mutuel betting. There were some exceptionally high pay-offs last night. Bonny Cash, winner of the third race, returned $77, $36 and $17.60 when he took the first heat. Miss Kitty Bunter an outsider finished show in the third heat of the final event and paid $40.20. There was another split daily double last night, prices reading $5.60 and $32.80.

First Upset

The opening heat of the third and feature race last night saw the first sulky upset in the meet thus far. Rounding the first turn in the first half of the race, Sonata driven by Harry Short of Washington, C. H., and Daisy skippered by Lou Huber, Jr., of Cincinnati collided and the sulkies were upset. The drivers escaped injury and only minor hurts were sustained by the horses.

The Coca-Cola 20 class trot for a $1,000 purse will be the headline event on tonight's Circuit card at the fairgrounds. Five horses have been nominated to start including Walter Michael's Miss Sarah Abbey. Other races tonight will be the two divisions of the 26 class trot, both for $300 prizes.

Hugh Bell's Lowland Scott first grabbed the lead in the lidlifting heat of the first race in the backstretch when he moved from third to first in swift spurt. He led by two lengths in the upper turn and hoofed it down the stretch to finish five lengths ahead of the place horse, True Neil. The second heat found Lowland Scott pacing the field the entire distance. He won by three lengths in this heat. The same held true for the final canto, which went a 9-16 of a mile. Lowland Scott maneuvered this course in 1:11 to win by four lengths.

Wins Last Heat

Annie Laurie, victor in the second race, won her lone first place finish in the first heat. She sped around the first half mile in 1:07½ and led the rest of the way to win a full length. Annie Laurie was ahead at the half of the second heat but Hava Hanover driven by Wayne "Curley" Smart of Delaware captured the first position going into the homestretch and chalked up a two-length triumph. In the third heat, Fama which paid $115 for place earlier in the week, took the lead in the backstretch of the 9-16 of a mile whirl and came home to victory. Hava Hanover appeared to have the heat cinched but broke only about 50 yards from the finish line.

Bonny Cash came from away back to win the first heat of the feature attraction. Heavenly Glow was in front at the start and Jack Mills at the half and in the backstretch. Earl's King George driven by Earl Roush of Canton was ahead going into the stretch but Bonny Cash suddenly began to exert himself and won by two lengths. Bonny Cash was in front at the beginning, half-way pole and the backstretch of the second heat. He won by six lengths. The last heat was again all Bonny Cash. The brown gelding traveled around the half in 1:06 and skirted the full mile in 2:11, finishing a length ahead of Heavenly Glow driven by Herman Ross.

BURTON OF LA RUE NAMED UMPIRE IN OHIO STATE LEAGUE

Duties Start Tonight with Marion-Newark Game; Succeeds Meier.

Don Burton, for the past three years LaRue High school six-man football coach and last winter basketball mentor, has been named to the staff of umpires in the Ohio State Baseball league, Frank M. Colley of Columbus, league president, announced today.

Burton's appointment is effective today. He has been scheduled to work the Newark-Marion game tonight at Newark, starting at 8:15. He will remain in Newark for the entire three-day series with the Cubs.

He fills the umpiring vacancy created last week when Art Meier of Columbus, league umpire-in-chief went into the Navy. The umpiring staff in theh State loop consists of six men, with two working each regularly scheduled game.

Burton came to LaRue in 1021 from West Liberty, Ky., where he was high school coach and manager of amateur baseball teams. He had considerable experience in umpiring in Kentucky amateur circles.

Since Burton arrived at LaRue, his six-man football teams have enjoyed overwhelming success. In 1942 and last season, the LaRue gridders were undefeated. Last winter, in his first campaign as head basketball conch, Burton's LaRue outfit finished third in the season race and went to the semi-finals in the annual Marion county tournament. Burton, 38 years old, attended Marshall college and Western Kentucky Teachers' college.

Richest, "Best" Race of Local Circuit Meet Saturday Night

BOB PLAXICO

Bob Plaxico, Canton owner, trainer and driver whose picture appears above is slated to drive F.R.G., a brown gelding sired by Volo Gndale, in the $5,000 Morral Supply Co. 2:04 bar pace, the top-rated race in this year's Marion Little Grand Circuit meeting at the county fairgrounds Saturday night.

F.R.G., which finished third in the Anthony Laundry $500 free-for-all-pace in the third night of the meet last Saturday, is only one of 12 highly-regarded horses expected to parade to the post in the three-heat bar pace tomorrow.

This race offers the richest purse of any event in the Marion meeting, which extends until Saturday night, June 24. Frank Foster, general manager of the meeting, has arranged his program so that there is at least one $1,000 race a night but Saturday night will see this figure exceeded five-fold.

Racemen from Mr. Foster and Presiding Judge Joe McGraw on down to the most unsuspicious least-known figures around the fairgrounds are certain this race will see the bitterest brand of competition. The field for the race is expected to approximate a dozen horses and all the starters did the mile distance in less than 2:05 last year. That's fast stepping in the fastest company. The event will consist of three-mile heats. It's not unlikely that the first two-minute mile of the local meet will be registered in this race.

Besides F.R.G., other starters for the event are My Son, owned by J. R. Rice of New Castle, Pa., Dr. Brodie owned by the Saunders Mills stable of Toledo, Watson E. Direct property of C. M. Provost of Pittsburgh, Scottie Vose Jr., owned by C. E. Baxter of Pontiac, Mich., C. A. Fauider's Sidney, O.-trained Red Go, Moon Flower owned by Mrs. C. L. Leboiteaux of Perrysburg, O., Prince Yakima owned by the Dahlinger stable of Dearborn, Mich., Mt. Vernon's Bob Hope owned by Bob Mason, and Cart Nagle owned by T. S. Berr, of Lexington, Ky.

Horseman consider Prince Yakima and Carty Nagle favorites in the race. Cart Nagle carded a two-minute mile last year and Prince Yakima had best mark of 2:02¼.

Four First Round Matches Played in Country Club Event

Four first round matches have been played in the two flights of the "over and above 100" handicap tournament at Marion Country Club on Route 4, Pro Ben Miller reported today.

In the first flight for golfers who qualified with scores under 100, H. C. Lautenslager edged E. C. Dee, 1 up in 18 holes and Frank Powers bested R. C. "Dick" Isaly, 3 and 2. In the second flight, for linksmen whose qualifiers were 100 or over, John Dowler defeated Harry Huber, 4 and 3 and George Alber best Marion Cheney, 1 up in 18 holes.

First round matches in the tourney must be completed by Sunday. A total of 31 contests were scheduled for the first chapter of the event, 16 in the "above 100" flight and 15 in the "below 100" bracket. This tourney marks the beginning of the competitive golf season for Country club swingers. The tournament wars at the Mar-O-Del public links on Route 23 are scheduled to get under way in the next week or two, Don Preuninger, chairman of the Mar-O-Del games committee said.

TRIBE MOVES UP TO FOURTH IN AMERICAN

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 16—Cleveland's Indians had regained a first division berth in the tight American league pennant chase today after edging the Detroit Tigers 3 to2 in a 13-inning battle yesterday.

The trimuph gave the Tribesmen an even break in the four game series and moved them into a fourth place tie with the Washington Nationals.

A two-run ninth inning rally staged by the Tigers sent the game into overtime, but Grandpa Joe Heving held the Bengals at bay until Oris Hockett doubled and scored on Paul O'Dea's single in the 13th.

The game was a scoreless mound duel between Allie Reynolds and Paul (Dizzy) Trout for the first six stanzas, but the Tribe fashioned a pair of runs with two out in the seventh.

Reynolds shut out the Tigers with six hits until the ninth. Chuck Hostetler opened the inning with a single and Bob Swift walked. Joe Hoover's double scored Hostetler and a walk to Roger Cramer filled the bases and brought Ed Klieman in from the bullpen. Eddie Mayo's long fly produced the tying marker.

Brewers, Tied 5-5 by Red Birds, Still Pace A. A.

By The Associated Press

With all teams idle today in the American Association flag chase, the Milwaukee Brewers hung onto their five game lead over the Columbus Red Birds who last night battled them to a 5-5 deadlock before a strong wind and rainstorm halted proceedings in the seventh inning.

The storm, which blew down part of the right field stands roof, injuring several fans, came at an inopportune moment for Manager Casey Stengel's lads. They had two on base and two out and had hammered Johnny Podgajny for 15 hits up to that time.

Owen Scheetz, seeking his fourth victory against three defeats, yielded nine blows. The tie gave Columbus the series, two games to one.

Hank Armstrong K.O.'s Al Davis in 2nd Round

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 16—Henry Armstrong still is one of the best fighters in the business. The former triple champion demonstrated it last night by flattening Al "Bummy" Davis in less than two rounds at Madison Square Garden.

A crowd of 16,084 (gross gate $58,822) saw Hammerin' Henry from Los Angeles batter the Brooklyn bad boy to the canvas four times, twice in the first round, before referee Frank Fullam stopped it after 69 seconds of the second stanza. Davis was stretched full length, flat on his face, when Fullam, without bothering to count, waved Armstrong to his corner.

ANYTHING —About— SPORTS

By Charles Elliott

THE GOLFING SITUATION

KEEPING in step with practically every other sporting activity in Marion, golf, though it has received more than its share of wartime knocks and has felt the painful pinch of rationing and other restrictions, is still a popular pastime locally.

The golfers, top-notchers and duffers alike, don't have the abundant supply of balls as of old but the ones they do have are seldom lost on the links and are virtually kept under lock and key when not in use. The roughs at both the Country club and Mar-O-Del nine-hole courses have been practically eliminated. The greens are fast and smooth and the fairways well rolled. You can get fine lies on either the Mar-O-Del or County club fairways.

Before school was dismissed early this month, the caddy shortage was reaching serious proportions. But since, more boys have been hired at the two courses and members and green fees golfers don't have to worry much about carrying their own clubs. The caddies may be younger and smaller than in peacetime but they can tote the bags. Members at both courses have taken the small size of the caddies into consideration and on occasion substituted light canvas bags for the much heavier and elaborate leather sacks. Fewer clubs are used for everyday pleasure golfing, although in tournaments the boys still like to have those nine irons, four woods and putter—and the more fastidious ones, a sand blaster and possibly approach cleek.

You've probably noticed that the scores posted on the local links thus far have been far from championship grade. Seventy totals are seldom registered this year. But that's understandable. Some of the city's best golfers have joined the armed forces and are doing their playing for Uncle Sam. They include Seabee Johnny Rife, whose consistent, accurate left-hand shooting won him the annual county golf tournament three years in succession, Bob Owens, now of the Navy, formerly Country club and county golf king, and Bud Baker of the Army, who was the city's longest hitter when he was around. Bill Schimmel, well-liked Country club professional for several years who resigned last season to go into war work, died last winter. Herb Petrich, now one of the Country club's kingpins, is due to go into the Navy in a few days.

Mar-O-Del's two star golfers are Don Preuninger, who rose from the upper 80 ranks to win the county championship last fall and Don McAninch, for years one of Marion's top amateur athletes. Bob Graham, who transferred from Mar-O-Del to Country club this year and R. C. "Dick" Isaly rank as the Country club's two golfing big-wigs, excluding Herb Petrich and Acting Pro Ben Miller.

Marion Defeats Lima 7 to 4 In Nightcap To Gain Even Split

LIMA, June 16—Marion's Cubs were saved from being shut out in their five-game series with Lima by capturing the nightcap of a twilight-night doubleheader at Halloran park here last night, 7 to 4, after being dealt a 5 to 1 loss in the opener. Lima won four games of the series to Marion's one.

Tonight, the Cubs of Grover Hartley are in Newark for the opener of a three-game series with the Ohio State league-leading Moundsmen.

Randy "Lefty" Edwards notched his fifth win of the season in the second game of last night's twin bill as he scattered 12 Lima hits, working exceptionally well in the pinches. Eddie Labanara put the Cubs ahead to stay with his second double of the game in the fourth inning which scored Ed Schultz and Francis Bailey.

Byron Nelson Fires 69 in New York Tourney

By The Associated Press

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., June 16—The folks around Wykagyl Country club knew today why Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, has finished in the money in 51 straight tournaments since January of 1941.

"Lord Byron" fired a 69 yesterday over the narrow-fairwayed, soggy layout where the $13,333 New York Red Cross tournament went into its second 18-hole round today. The 69, three under par, wasn't good enough for the lead, as Sgt. Vic Ghezzi, the tall New Jerseyite who beat Byron for the 1941 P.G.A. title, blazed around in 67 without benefit of a practice round.

Reds Open Series With Cubs at Chicago Today

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 16—The Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs open a series today which will determine if the Reds can hold on to third place, where they currently are tied with the New York Giants.

Clyde Shoun, who pitched a no-hitter for the Reds earlier this year, and Paul Derringer, ex-Red who used to pitch better games than a lot of pitchers by the glory boys, are the probable starters.

The Pirates took the first game of the Reds' home stand in Cincinnati yesterday, squeezing out a 1-0 decision over Tommy La Cruz in the ninth inning.

BOSOX TIE BROWNS IN SUCCESSIVE WINS

Boston Cops 9th Straight by Downing Philadelphia A's.

By The Associated Press

The Boston Red Sox joined the St. Louis Browns in running the longest winning skein of the season when they defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 5-1 yesterday for their ninth straight victory.

Tex Hughson, Red Sox ace righthander, gained his ninth victory to bring his team to within a half game of the league leading Brownies. Hughson thus ties Hal Newhouser of the Tigers for the most victories in the American league. He allowed the Athletics six hits to give the Bosox a clean sweep of the four game series. Bob Johnson hit his fourth homer for the Red Sox.

The New York Giants defeated Brooklyn 9-2 at night to move into a tie with the Cincinnati Reds for third place in the National loop, and Mel Ott smashed his seventeenth homer in the first inning with two on.

Washington made it three out of four over the New York Yankees, with Mickey Haefner outpitching Joe Page 3-2.

Rookie Paul O'Dea's single in the eleventh inning scored Oris Hockett to give Cleveland a 3-2 win over Detroit. The victories advanced the Senators and Indians a couple of notches into a fourth-place tie.

Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati, 1-0, scoring the lone run in the ninth on Bob Elliott's single scoring Jeep Handley.

The Philadelphia Phillies came from behind twice to win from the Boston Braves, 5-4. Ford Mullen's single with two out scored Jimmy Wasdell, who had doubled to start the eighth. Jim Tobin, in relief, was charged with the loss and Ken Raffensberger received the win.

The St. Louis and Chicago clubs in both leagues were not scheduled.

Levy and Riley Victors in Tag Team Mat Show

Levy, the "Blimp," and Pat Riley were victors in a tag team wrestling match at the Armory last night. Their opponents were Mortimo Angelo and Buddy Knox. Levy put Angelo out in 12 minutes with a body press. He put full time in by flooring Knox next in three minutes, taking the first fall for him and his teammate, Riley. Angelo was floored by the Blimp in six minutes with a body press as Levy carried on in the second fall. Riley helped with a drop kick as Knox saw Levy put Knox out in seven minutes with a body press. Riley and Levy were winners by virtue of two straight falls.

A one-hour opener was called a draw between Cy Larsen and Gorilla Pogi. The first fall went to Pogi, who brought Larsen down in 19 minutes with a crab hold. Larsen took the second fall with the Irish whip and body press in 12 minutes. The remaining nine minutes of the match passed without a fall for either man.

FLAME PLANE

business went on without interruption.

Home Secretary Herbert S. Morrison told commons today that these radio-controlled planes were used first Tuesday night, and came over again last night and today.

While he was speaking, southern England shook to light and heavy anti-aircraft guns and rockets barking out at these raiders coming over sporadically.

More enemy raiders were seen crossing the southern English coast at intervals this morning, with anti-aircraft guns opening up on them and RAF fighters going up to meet them.

Reports did not indicate whether these were more of the pilotless planes but presumably they were.

The Nazis thus were striking against the flow of allies strength into the successful bridgehead in France, hoping to divert it.

Morrison referred to the pilotless planes as "missiles" indicating they were designed to crash against their objectives rather than to drop bombs as orthodox planes do.

He indicated these planes were not expected to return home. He said he had "not had full reports on the number of planes that crash destroyed before they actually explode" last night.

Today Hitchhikers' Rest took their toll as it went for the first time since 1941 to a home front area. Hitler's move placed them in the front line with troops fighting across the channel.

Thunderous barrages of guns on both sides of the channel in the battle of the bridgehead merged into one with the new battle of Britain.

LEGAL NOTICE

The Board of County Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, will receive bids for an addition to the Marion County Court House for Men's Public Toilet.

Bids will be received until 10 o'clock A. M. (E.W.T.) on the 10th day of July, 1944, by the Board of County Commissioners at the Commissioners' office in the Court House at Marion, Ohio, at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud. At the next meeting of the Board of County Commissioners following receipt of said bids, formal action will be taken toward the awarding of the contract.

Plans and specifications are on file in Columbus Builders Exchange, Columbus, Ohio, and the Auditor's Office of Marion County, Ohio, and includes the furnishing of labor at the wage rates prevailing in Marion County, as set forth in the specifications, and material for the following items: Masonry work, carpenter work, structural steel, floor covering, tile and marble work, electric wiring and fixtures, lathing and plastering, plumbing and plumbing fixtures, heating and sheet metal work, painting and decorating.

Each bid must be accompanied by cash or a certified check on some solvent bank in an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the estimated cost of the improvement, made payable to the order of the Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, for the benefit of said County which will be forfeited by the successful bidder or bidders in case they fail to enter into a contract within five days from the date of award.

Drawings and specifications may be obtained from the Architect for the personal use of the contractor upon deposit of a check in the amount of $10.00. The amount of the deposit will be returned to the contractor upon return of set of plans and specifications with deductions made for actual reproductions.

The successful bidder will be required to give bond in an amount at least equal to 100 per cent of the contract price as security for the faithful performance of this contract and for the payment of all persons performing labor on the project and furnishing materials in connection with the contract.

Bids may be made upon blank forms furnished by the Architect and may be for the whole or for any separate trades mentioned in the plans and specifications. The bids must not exceed the estimate as set forth in said plans and specifications.

The Board of Marion County Commissioners reserve the right to accept the lowest responsible bid or reject all bids.

President Offers Plan for Peace

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 16 — President Roosevelt yesterday called for creation of a world organization of all "peace-loving" nations to maintain peace and security—backed by force if necessary.

"We are not thinking of a superstate with its own police force and other paraphernalia of international power," the President said, but accept that member nations of the world organization would maintain adequate forces for joint action when necessary.

For the mechanics of a peace-keeping organization, Mr. Roosevelt proposed:

1. An international organization comprising all peace-loving nations.

2. A council, elected annually by these nations, to include the four major nations and "a suitable number of other nations."

(The big four are the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China.)

3. An international court of justice to deal primarily with disputes capable of settlement.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that for the need for physical enforcement of war prevention, the government is seeking agreement with other nations to have their armed forces available for joint action.

WHEAT AND RYE MARKETS ERRATIC

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 16—The market for wheat and rye futures was erratic today. Price trends changed frequently as traders marked time pending action of senate and house conferees on an amendment to the price control extension bill which is aimed at forcing processors of farm commodities to pay parity prices to producers.

Trade in the wheat pit was largely speculative with buying faltering on the advances and support developing during the recessions. The rye market had a nervous influence with the only selling of any consequence coming from local operators.

MBS To Concentrate On War Bonds Saturday

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 16—The network parade of bonds, started Tuesday by NBC, continues Saturday via MBS when its entire schedule from 10 a. m. to 2 a. m. at night will direct attention to the Fifth War Loan. Besides regular programs, a dozen special broadcasts have been arranged.

Among these is a 6 p. m. program from FM station WBCA at Schenectady, N. Y., described as the first to originate from such a station for a coast-to-coast network.

Eight days after the landing in France, NBC and CBS were able to relay their first broadcast from the beachhead. Quality of the signal was not of the best, but nevertheless it was a "first." Transmission originated through Army signal corps facilities, with the London short wave passing it on to this country.

Plant Fiber Makes Sponges

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UP)—The dry, sandy soil of Pinellas county, Florida, has been found to be ideal for the cultivation of a wartime substitute, the Luffa plant. The luffa is known as the dishrag gourd. The web-like fibre inside the plants can be made into sponges for use in chemical factories and medical purposes.

In the Fifth National Pedestrian Protection Contest Wisconsin was judged the safest state for pedestrians in 1943, and Chicago, Washington and Detroit were the safest large cities for pedestrians.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

THERE WERE three men, I guessed, who were lining up just below me in front of the door to my father's secret hideout in the old smugglers' run. I was not positive, of course, but I thought I detected the sound of three sets of footsteps, as well as three distinct exhalations of breath.

I dared not wait for them to knock. Even if they did not use our signaling knocks, Hugh might open the door, and thus expose himself as a target. Of course I knew that if the men below were enemies, I should scream to Hugh for help even as I discharged my own pistol. I would not expose Junior and Ronald to death without summoning the aid so near at hand.

Plan Ready

But until I was certain of what waited below, I could do nothing but set in motion the plan I had formed when I had brought the boys up four steps on the stairway.

I switched on my flashlight, leveled it down on them, and spoke firmly.

"Do not move," I ordered. "I have you covered with a revolver, and I am a good shot."

Then, unbelievably, a low, amused laugh sounded from below me, a laugh I did not know, and for an instant terror and horror engulfed me. But the hand in which I held my silencer pistol did not waver, although I found the flashlight cast so feeble an illumination that though the masculine figures below were good enough targets, I did not know whether or not I recognized them.

Then a blessedly familiar voice drawled my name, with amusement in its tones.

"Wa'al, Mis' Graham," Jerry Tiger said, "nobuddy kin say you're not right on the job."

I could have swooned or wept from sheer relief. Instead I spoke firmly, even cheerily.

Turn On Switch

"If I were younger, I'd say you'd frightened me out of a year's growth," I said. "Jerry, please turn on that stair switch near the door, and then tell me what's wanted.

Jerry obeyed, and as the light flooded the stairs, I saw below me, with my young neighbor, Charley Kent, the taxi man, and "Mr. X," the FBI man who just a little while before had marched out with the three comrades who believed him to be a Nazi saboteur like themselves.

"I am so sorry to have annoyed you," "Mr. X" said. "You notice I do not say 'frightened.' I firmly refuse to believe that this experience has shortened your life's span by the fraction of a second."

"At least ten years," I told him firmly, "but I know you are not here for anything trivial. What can I do for you?"

"You can let me see your friend as soon as possible," he said promptly, "I have only time now to tell you that I was able to elude my—comrades; get in touch with Mr. Kent, who in turn enlisted Mr. Tiger's aid and brought me here. I thought it too dangerous to come by the door, as I should have perhaps."

Did Right

"No, you have done exactly right," I told him. "Now we will all go in. Come on, boys!"

They were right by my side, and I said softly: "Give the knocks, Junior."

He obeyed me promptly, and the next second Hugh Grantland opened the doorway, and looked out at us.

If he were surprised, even his eyes gave no indication of it.

"Well! Well!" he said. "Quite a party!"

"Yes, isn't it?" I countered, stepping past him into the room. "But I have something to do here that cannot wait. It will take only a minute, and then the boys and I will go, and you can discuss things at your leisure."

I think I did surprise Hugh by my insistence, for he knows that where intelligence work is concerned I am most docile.

"Please watch," I said. "I am going to press this button for the gong downstairs. Watch the second hand on that clock," and I indicated the big clock on the wall just above the button. "When one second has elapsed, I shall press the button again, and a third time at the end of the second.

Signals

"When I have finished," I went on inexorably, "I wish you, Hugh, to push the button in the same way. If Lee Chow thinks it necessary, I should like him to push it also, otherwise, I will do it for him. These are signals I have arranged with the people downstairs."

"When you have finished, Hugh," Lee Chow said, "please help me up. I wish to make the signals, too."

I turned to the button. "Ready to watch, Hugh?" I said crisply.

"All ready," he said standing close beside me.

I pressed the button three times, at second intervals, gave place to Hugh who went gravely through the same procedure. At a signal from Lee Chow, Junior and Roderick had lifted him up, and when Hugh had finished, the Chinese was ready for his turn. When my test was completed, Lee Chow was helped back to bed, and I started for the door.

"I'll go down now, and find out whether or not the gong rang," I said. "It is impossible to tell from down here."

"Very well," Hugh said. "But please come back as soon as you can. I fancy there will be things you should know."

YOUR HEALTH

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Gallbladder Upsets

A correspondent writes:

"Would you please send me a list of things I might eat as a diet for an upset of the gallbladder. I have a list of what not to eat and it seems to include everything. As far as I can see this list contains everything any one should eat in order to be at all healthy and gain resistance to fight other diseases or colds. It must be that there is a regular gallbladder diet list by some doctor though I have been unable to obtain any support to that effect."

The diet planned by Dr. Albert F. R. Anderson is well suited to gallbladder dyspepsia and periodic upsets due to mild gallbladder stasis in which the condition is not severe enough or for some other reason surgical intervention is not justified.

It is based on a diet high in fat and on frequent small meals, six a day, rather than three large meals.

The principes on which this diet is based are that the dyspeptic troubles due to gallbladder depend on stasis of the bile in the gallbladder and infection. In both drainage is indicated and this is obtained by frequent feedings high in fat. Adequate drainage sufficient to overcome gallbladder stasis is accomplished by the presence in an emulsified state of fat in the upper part of the small intestine. Large meals cause pressure and back-daming in the gallbladder while small frequent meals give an effect of continuous drainage and also supply sufficient nourishment.

Dr. Anderson's sample diet is as follows for one day:

Breakfast—Milk: one glass. Cereal: with cream and sugar. Egg: soft boiled or poached. Bread and butter. Fruit: raw, of any kind.

Mid-morning—Milk and crackers; bread and butter, or cake.

Luncheon—Milk: one glass. Egg: soft boiled or poached, or cream cheese. Vegetables: well cooked, any kind. Salad. Bread and butter. Pudding, ice cream, jello or fruit (raw or cooked).

Mid-afternoon—Milk and crackers; bread and butter; or cake.

Supper—Same as luncheon.

Bedtime (and in night if awake) —Milk and crackers; bread and butter; or cake.

Olive Oil—½ ounce, or cream, 1 ounce, three times daily with meals.

Water—At least 4 or 5 glasses a day.

Patients should be warned that the diet may aggravate the condition for a short time, but that by adherence to the regimen all symptoms will eventually be alleviated. The diet should not be prescribed when evidence such as slight jaundice indicates blockage of the common duct. If, after reasonable trial, symptoms persist complications which demand surgical intervention may be assumed.

Bile salts by mouth will also help by draining the contents of the gallbladder into the intestines, and are sometimes used along with the diet. But the diet alone, if used faithfully, will cause the contents of the gallbladder to drain into the intestines and thus tend to prevent complications.

The above one day's diet is only a sample. It does not take much ingenuity to plan varied diets for other days if you keep to the general principles of small, frequent meals containing staple articles high in fats—such as butter, cream, eggs, cheese, salad dressings.

Roosevelt Given Slight Lead in New Jersey Poll

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 16—New Jersey, which elected a Republican U. S. senator in 1942 and a Republican governor in 1943, promises plenty of political excitement in the coming presidential election campaign.

This is underlined by a Gallup survey throughout New Jersey showing that if President Roosevelt and Governor Thomas E. Dewey were the candidates in an election today, the President would have only a slight advantage among civilian voters. This is shown in the results of the survey as follows:

FOR ROOSEVELT	51%
FOR DEWEY	49

New Jersey voters named a Republican U. S. senator, Albert Hawkes, in 1942, and a Republican governor, Walter E. Edge, in 1943.

That Roosevelt leads in New Jersey today, despite the fact that the state was carried by Republican candidates for the U. S. Senate in 1942 and the governorship in 1943 is due largely to two factors. The turn-out in New Jersey in 1942 and 1943 was well below the total achieved in presidential years. As a rule, in the past a light turn-out has benefited the Republicans.
